

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A packing tool for packing large articles such as image forming apparatuses has a palette to place the article, and an article-fixing member to secure the article to the palette. The article-fixing member
5 is accommodated in an accommodating section in the palette. When securing the article to the palette, the article-fixing member is pulled out and wound around the article.